

Island

Rising above this world that abused me
No longer crawling, begging on my knees
After the chaos comes serenity
I've severed myself from necessity

Embrace the ether, no chance I'm falling
Move at my own pace, no longer stalling
I am no demon, know I'm not dwelling
No fake emotions, no vice I'm selling

If each human's an island
Then I was deserted
It's too late to ask now
If I deserved it
Washed away by waves
Of everything I craved
My treasure is set free
Though no one can see

In the ether I will rise again
Chuckles and chains, fall like rain
A new consciousness has set me free
No more Chloe, no more plea

Waves are rising higher
Taking me away forever
Tide puts out my fire
I set sail to wander through the waters

Snap out of it,
It's a blessing in disguise
Tide is going now
I arise